Race Course Hints and Suggestions

Maps - Although the course will be marked with white arrows and white and green ribbons, the arrows tend to fade overtime. Purchasing a Lantau Country Park Map to take along on the run may be helpful if questions arise. Racers are also advised to familiarize themselves with the course ahead of time.

Checkpoints - Due to the isolated nature of sections of the full marathon course, strict checkpoint closure times will be adhered to, particularly at Ngong Ping (Big Buddha) and Tung Chung Au.

Water - One water stop will be provided at Tung Chung Au (Pak Kung Au) for both full and half marathon runners. On the full marathon course additional water stops will be provided at Tung Chung and Ngong Ping (Big Buddha), CP 2 at Pak Mong is a timing checkpoint only.

Equipment - The vast majority of both the full and half marathon course are run in the open with little or no shade. Hats, sunscreen, and hydration systems are recommended.

Trail Conditions - The half marathon course is the shortest and easiest of all the half marathon courses in the series. While portions take place on steep ground, the entire race course covers major trails only. Due to AFCD policy, the full marathon course will not be as rough as previously, but it will be several km longer and will still include all of the hard climbs. The climb up Lantau Peak from Ngong Ping is particularly arduous.

Although the trail will be marked with white arrows, the area around Ngong Ping can be confusing due to all the tourists. If in doubt, follow signs toward the Tea Garden Restaurant to access the trail up Lantau Peak.
